READING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE.

Varieties.

The Feast of the Passover, observed by our Jewish citizens, commenced on Friday last and continues eight days.

The trains on the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railways were detained several hours yesterday by bad slides near Irvinton.

The present Common Council held their last business meeting to-morrow evening. The new Board will be organized on Monday, April 3d.

Mr. McKean Buchanan and his daughter, Virginia Buchanan, appear this evening at Corinthian Hall, in Shakespeare's tragedy of "Othello."

Far on the Erie Railway, after the first of April, if tickets are purchased at the offices of the company, will be or will the rates charged still hold on the cars. This is a great invasion of the vested rights of conductors.

The last lecture of the season will be delivered this evening, at Union Hall, by B. F. Taylor, Esq., Subject—Fables of the Alphabet of Success. Judging from the demand for reserved seats, it will attract a splendid audience.

The crowds in this and the neighboring counties, and the Allegheny river were throning yesterday, and the water in them was fully as high as it usually is at the breaking up of winter. No damage has so far been reported, and none is apprehended.

An oil well is being sunk just back of the residence of Joseph Marshall, on Brook street, and now demands have made their appearance along the hill in the summer. It is the theory of some of the oldest operators that oil is to be obtained on the south as well as the northern boundary of the city, and preparations are making for testing it in the most thorough manner.

Oil Creek and Church Run have been nearly at high water mark during the last three days, and threatening an inundation. The storm having abated, this fear is removed, but every spring freshet demonstrates the necessity of enlarging the channel of Church Run, in its course through the city, and widening up its banks. This would protect private property against the encroachments of the stream, and restore many lots that are rendered comparatively worthless from inundations.

The late Hon. Edward Bates.

The Hon. Edward Bates died at St. Louis on Thursday last. He was born at Belmont, Va., September 4, 1797. In early life, having declined a military appointment, he served in the Virginia militia in the war of 1812, and in 1814 went to St. Louis, where he settled down in the practice of the law. In 1818 he was appointed prosecuting attorney of the circuit, and in 1829 was made Attorney General of the new State of Missouri. Resigning that office in 1824, he was elected to the L. legislature, and in 1826 to Congress, resigning for that place the position of United States Distiller Attorney for Missouri. He was next elected to the State Senate and then to the lower house of the Legislature. President Fillmore appointed him Secretary of War in 1850, but he declined. Three years later he was elected Judge of the St. Louis Land Court. He joined the Republican party soon after its formation, and was a prominent candidate for the Presidential nomination at the Chicago Convention of 1860. In 1861 he was appointed Attorney General in Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet, which place he held for a few years, resigning before the expiration of that President's term. He was a man of good qualities, but too conservative in his ideas to keep pace with the party of progress.

Meeting of the Producer's Association on Wednesday Next—The Free Pipe Bill.

In another column we print the call for a meeting of the Oil Producer's Association. It will be understood by all of our readers that we do not hold ourselves responsible for any statements embodied in the "call," but as a master of justice in all parties we will give a portion of our column to any who may feel interested in this matter. We trust that the producers will see how essential it is to their interests that the free pipe law now pending in the Legislature be passed. At this particular juncture a free law is necessary. The transportation of oil in the district ought not to be, and must not be hampered by restrictions of any kind. A free pipe law would do much toward breaking the combination of monopolists that now holds control of the transportation of oil both in the producing districts and from it to the seaboard, and thereby increases the consumption of Petroleum in Europe by allowing it to be delivered there at less cost than it can be delivered under the present exorbitant rate of charges. It is scarcely possible that the Legislature will longer refuse to pass the free pipe law if the producers will act in concert, and move in the matter with the force and influence they are capable of exerting. As the producers value their own interest let there be a full attendance of them at the meeting in Oil City on Wednesday next.

TREATMENT.—Mr. Buchanan's theatrical company opens in Corinthian Hall this (Tuesday) evening, March 30. The play selected is Shakespeare's fine tragedy of Othello. That Mr. Buchanan is superior to the general run of "provincial stars," may be seen by the following extract from the New York Journal, a good authority on theatrical matters:

We venture our unbiased and deliberate opinion respecting the reputation of Mr. Buchanan's "Othello." Our judgment, far from being that of any actor of the present day, is that he is the man that Shakespeare drew; the reality of the wonderful material creation of the immortal bard, we think so, we write so, and we are fully persuaded that we are correct in the estimate we have formed of his powers in this character.

Miss Virginia Buchanan, the "leading lady" is as good in her parts as Mr. Buchanan is in his, and supported by a good company, they will not fail to give us some fine entertainments.

Tickets for these first-class dramatic entertainments can be obtained at Hart's News Rooms, Post Office, and seats secured by names.

TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEY.—Mr. E. S. Nettleton, of Pittsfield, who has been engaged for several months past in making a topographical survey of the oil regions, has ascertained some very interesting facts, which will before long be given to the public in a published report. In addition to the local survey, Mr. Nettleton has connected it with the sea level; also with Lake Erie, headless many other points in Western Pennsylvania and New York. It seems that Pittsfield is 1,702 feet above the level of the sea, and 1,193 feet above the level of Lake Erie.

THE A. M. E. (Zion) Church of this city, are engaged in making preparations for a Festival on behalf of their religious society and its pastor, F. M. Lyon, and the benevolent public are cordially solicited to bestow a liberal pecuniary aid towards these important objects. Agents are canvassing the city, on that behalf, duly authorized by the pastor.

Easter Festival at St. James Memorial Church.

The celebration of the Queen of Festivals, at St. James' Memorial Church, on Sunday last, was of a very impressive and beautiful character. On Easter eve the full-blown moon, the sun and herald in the heavens for ages of the sacred anniversary of Easter, shone forth with its wondrous radiance, and with the dawn of Easter day came the revivifying breath of the glad Spring-time, and the quicker pulses of a more animated life in all things; the green earth and the blue sky gave double witness of the new birth of Nature, while the blithe songs of birds, and the murmur of running brooks filled the air with a glorious forgotten music.

The Christian Gentleman.
An addition which thus describes the Christian gentleman:
He is above a man's thinking. He cannot stoop to anything. He leaves no secret in the world. Another. He betrays no secret in the world. He is above all keeping. His secret is never known. He uses no ignoble language or language of contumacy. He is not one thing to a man's face and another behind his back. If by accident he comes into possession of an Englishman's cashbox, he passes upon them an act of instant oblivion. He is beneath all suspicion without exception. Whether they find him in his shambles of intemperance, he is not one thing to a man's face and another behind his back. He will eat honest bread. He tramples on no sensitive feelings. He insults no one. If he have rebuke for another, he is straightforward, open, manly. He cannot descend to scurrility. In short, whatever he judges honorable, be practices toward every man.

Griffin's PatentWATER PACKER.

This is one of the most useful Patents for oil packers ever invented. It has a self-sealing joint, so constructed as to cover over any other seal. Bag or Water Packer. It is a great improvement in packing for seed oil, flour, &c. and has the quiet action of a screw. It can be used for any kind of oil, &c. It can never take tubing or sealing in a well so that it can be taken out readily.

EVERY OTHER PACKER IN THE MARKET NEEDS STRINGS OF TUBING AND GASKETS, SO THEY CANNOT BE DRAWN FROM THE WELL.

It is so constructed that a part of a full hand can be removed from the well without affecting the sealing of the rock above the rock with which the packer is surrounded.

This is the only Water Packer in fact at has a Patent on, all others being an infringement upon the rights secured by Letters Patent granted by the United States Patent Office to Griffin's Patent. The Patent is now offered to the public at the low price of $100 Dollars each, and the money will be refunded to the owner of any of the parts buying them when they do not give notice of infringement.
